

The information contained in the application “Daskara” is received from various users and therefore we are not responsible for the accuracy of the data made available through this platform.

When using Daskara, it may need to access and collect certain details and data from your mobile device, including details of your location (shall include, but not be limited to country, state, and city/town/locality, street).

Daskara collects and stores such information:

- To inform you about your location;
- To send you notifications or content according to your location;
- To show you content (e.g. images) according to your location;
- To inform you about your contributions’ locations;
- To inform you about certain points of interest (e.g. nature activities, sports and games, Food and lodging, eco sites, cultural sites and services);
- To inform you about other user’s comments on certain points of interest only under the “community Feature” on Daskara;
- To improve Daskara Services.

By using Daskara you will be helping travelers avoid the tourist traps and discover authentic places and experiences. You will be sharing your favorite local spots and telling their stories. You will also be prompt to become a local administrator of a certain village or expert activity depending on the frequency and quality of contributing the crowdsources data. By becoming an admin you will be able to approve or reject or edit crowdsourced locations and activities. Becoming an admin depends on the user’s frequency and quality of use.

CONTENT

Daskara’s service allows you to post, link, store, share and otherwise make available certain information, text, graphics, videos, or other content. Daskara’s content is divided into crowdsourced locations and places with their respective images, texts and attributes on one hand; and discussing certain locations in the community features on Daskara by commenting on it. None of the crowdsourced data will be published before Daskara admins (local experts and committees) approve the information, however the comments and discussions under the community feature is more open. You are responsible for the content that you post on Daskara, including its legality, reliability, and appropriateness.

By posting content on Daskara you grant us free of charge the right and license to use, modify, publish, reproduce, and distribute such content on and through the service. You agree that this license includes the right for us to make your content available to other users of the application and website, who may also use your content subject to these Terms; and to allow for your submitted content to be edited by our admins.

You represent and warrant that:

The content is yours (you own it)

The posting of your content on or through Daskara does not violate the privacy rights, publicity rights, copyrights, contract rights or any other rights and intellectual property of any person.

We also rely on the information about our POIs that is crowdsourced and used as supplied by them to use on our website including all words, content and imagery supplied by business owners, users, contributors and admins we feature on our site.
